Jesus of Nazareth Sentenced to Death

SPQR

His Excellency, Pontius Pilate, has confirmed the sentence of death on Jesus of Nazareth. The convicted person has been rabble-rousing throughout Judea and has built up a considerable following. His claim to be the King of the Jews must be considered an act of rebellion against Caesar.

No rebellion against Caesar can be tolerated in this province, or anywhere throughout the Empire. All who claim to be King, unless supported by Caesar, will be treated with equal severity.

The action of the Governor has the complete support of the Jerusalem religious authority, and is the full responsibility of the High Priest and his office.
